Designs of Distinction®, EcoDomo®, and Element Designs® Return to KBIS 2026 with a Collaborative Booth Experience

Chicago, IL - Three design-driven brands—Designs of Distinction® [DOD], EcoDomo®, and Element Designs®—are joining forces once again for a dynamic Collaborative Booth Experience at KBIS 2026. Back by popular demand, this multi-brand showcase brings together innovative materials, elevated design solutions, and cross-category expertise in a single destination, creating a seamless and inspiring experience for designers, architects, and builders.

Each brand is recognized for pushing boundaries in its category: DOD with premium decorative components and materials; EcoDomo with sustainable and luxurious recycled-leather surfacing solutions; and Element Designs with modern aluminum, glass, and acrylic systems. Together, the three companies demonstrate how their products naturally integrate within residential and commercial design—offering visitors a holistic look at cabinetry, millwork, casework, and interior-feature applications.

This year's collaborative booth focuses on delivering real value for KBIS attendees, offering benefits such as:

- One-Stop-Shop Efficiency: Visitors can explore complementary materials, hardware, surfacing, and architectural systems in one booth, maximizing their time on the show floor.
- Cross-Brand Design Inspiration: Products are staged together to showcase fully coordinated applications and design concepts, helping designers envision integrated solutions rather than isolated components.
- Streamlined Specification: With three brands presenting coordinated offerings, attendees can gather specs, samples, and design insights in a single conversation—ideal for multidisciplinary project teams.
- Future-Focused Innovation: Each company is debuting new launches for 2026, giving visitors a first look at evolving trends across wood, metal, leather, glass, and contemporary surfacing.
- Collaborative Problem-Solving: Experts from all three brands will be on-site to help designers troubleshoot project challenges and discover synergistic solutions.

"As the industry continues to blend craftsmanship, innovation, and multi-material design, it's more important than ever to show how brands like ours work together in real-world applications," says the DOD team. "Visitors will walk away with new ideas, new connections, and a deeper understanding of how integrated design solutions elevate modern interiors."

Visit Booth W173 at KBIS 2026 in Orlando to explore this unique multi-brand environment and learn how these three companies are shaping the next chapter of interior design and architectural specification.
